Economizers Deliver

Economizers are among the best — if not THE best — ways to cut energy costs, in a commercial building. Let's take a look at the other features that make Honeywell economizers a great choice:

First, Honeywell economizers help ensure that you're meeting the latest ventilation codes, including the International Building Code, California Title 24 and Seattle Energy Code section 1413. Honeywell has you covered.

You'll also be covered with reliable service, because Honeywell economizers average 15 years of dependable performance with minimal service required only for CO<sub>2</sub> sensor calibration. Add in easy installation and the extended equipment life due to less compressor run-time, and you'll see that Honeywell economizers are an outstanding choice in many ways beyond energy savings.
